Law360 is a one-stop source for legal news and analysis, providing up-to-the-minute coverage on the issues that affect attorneys, business leaders, and regulators.

Visit Law360.com to find out what hundreds of thousands of readers at top law firms, Fortune 1000 companies, and key government agencies already know.
Law360 starts with a dedicated editorial staff of 160+ news assistants, reporters, and editors who publish about 220 articles every single business day, including breaking news, in-depth analysis, and third-party expert analysis.

Breaking News

Law360 is consistently named as a legal industry standard for concise, journalistic news articles that provide the information our readers need as quickly as possible, including case documents. We average about 220 breaking news articles each day across dozens of news sections. Coverage includes litigation, legislation and regulation, corporate transactions, judicial appointments, law firm partner moves, legal industry news and trends, and more.

Over the past 10 years, we’ve constantly honed our advanced newsgathering technology and put reporters on the ground in nearly two dozen cities across the U.S., so that when news breaks, you’ll know about it.

EXTRA! EXTRA!

Law360 began in 2003 with only one editorial staffer: founder Marius Meland.

FAST FACTS

In Q4 of 2016, 18 percent of our breaking news wasn’t covered at all by competitors, and another 49 percent we published faster or as quickly. In addition, 66 percent of our news was published within 36 hours of the event.
Analysis

Law360 has more than three dozen senior reporters dedicated to research and analysis on current events, legal industry trends, and other major topics.

We publish 300 news analysis and feature articles per month on average.

Sections

Law360 offers dozens of practice area, industry, and state sections — plus our ever-popular Business of Law content.

Our first section was Intellectual Property, and other mainstays include Bankruptcy, Class Action, Competition, Employment, Insurance, Product Liability, and Securities.

Sections launched in 2015 and 2016:

- Immigration
- Native American
- Telecommunications
- Sports
- Transportation
- International Arbitration
- Trials
- Illinois
- Delaware
- Medical Malpractice

For more on each section, visit www.law360.com/about/.
Business of Law

All Law360 subscribers get access to our Business of Law content, which provides news and analysis on important events related to law firms, corporate counsel, courts and judges, and other segments of the legal industry.

Topics include pay issues, hiring and layoffs across the industry, billing practices, practice tips, and more.

Rankings & Series

Each December, we reveal our Practice Groups of the Year, honoring top firms across the legal spectrum. The Law360 400, our list of the 400 largest U.S. firms by attorney size, comes out each spring and spotlights the biggest players in the legal market.

Meanwhile, our Glass Ceiling Report highlights efforts to bridge the gender gap in firm leadership, and individual attorneys vie for top honors in our annual MVP and Rising Star profiles.

Other popular series include: Global 20, Practice Group Partner Rankings, and Pro Bono Firms of the Year.
Expert Analysis

One of the most popular aspects of our news content is Expert Analysis. These articles provide commentary from leading practitioners, in-house counsel, academics, and legal consultants across a range of legal issues — and give attorneys a way to showcase their expertise to peers and potential clients.

For more information on submitting expert analysis for publication with Law360, email us at expertanalysis@law360.com.

But that’s not all ...

Other Law360 content includes Q&As with top legal practitioners and industry leaders, coverage of key personnel moves and appointments, exclusive interviews with judges and policymakers, and more.

Advanced technology lies at the heart of Law360, and our website and newsletters are designed to ensure that you get the information you need quickly and easily — on desktop, tablet, or smartphone.

Website

The Law360 website is built so that no matter what type of device you’re using, you’re able to navigate easily and find the content that is crucial to you.

Visit our home page to browse the most significant, most recent, and most popular articles each day.

From there, you can easily access all of our news sections, search for topics of interest using the toolbar, or find our most popular sections and special features via the site menu.

Section pages provide the latest stories for each coverage area, and highlight expert analysis from leading practitioners.

You can also sign up for newsletters and access RSS feeds from the section page.
In addition to breaking news and analysis, our article pages also provide access to available case information, source documents, and related articles.

In the right sidebar, you’ll find related documents such as complaints, proposed rules, and bills, which you can download instantly.

Below that, you’ll find full case information for most cases in federal district court, including court, judge, and law firms and companies involved.

Advanced Search

Our robust search technology enables you to search all of Law360’s news and analysis in one place using the universal toolbar at the top of the site.

You can also use our Advanced Search tool to find what you’re looking for. Whether the search is narrow (say, biopharmaceutical patent suits filed in Texas in spring 2009) or broad (all litigation stories from the past year) our search engine is adaptable to your search needs.

For more information on how to manage your account on our website, see the Law360 User Guide.
Newsletters

Every Law360 news section has a dedicated daily newsletter.

Law360 newsletters are delivered to your email inbox every business morning, so that you can start your day with the latest news and analysis.

Our newsletters also highlight organizations in the news that day — law firms, companies, and government agencies — giving you insight into who’s involved even before you read the story.

At the bottom of every newsletter, you’ll find the latest Business of Law articles, keeping you in the loop on events and issues from across the legal profession.

Make sure to check out related job listings at the bottom of the newsletter.

Visit jobs.law360.com to find or post legal jobs. You can choose up to three newsletters for your post to appear in.
Law360 App for iPhone and iPad

The Law360 app for iPhone and iPad is available from the App Store for Enterprise and Platform subscribers.

With the app, you can easily access all Law360 news content on the go. Read the latest articles, get breaking news alerts in areas of interest, search our entire news archive, and more.

Not an Enterprise or Platform subscriber? Contact your account rep or customerservice@law360.com to find out about upgrade options.
Perhaps the most significant enhancements to Law360 in recent years, our Platform Tools include a federal case database; a PTAB case database; and real-time or daily alerts on organizations, industries, case activity, and news. We’ve also recently added the Law360 Briefcase to help you organize and share your research.

Law360 Cases

Law360 Cases offers direct access to case information and documents without lengthy docket detours or labyrinthine searches.

Our case database contains all significant new filings across U.S. federal district courts and is updated hourly on business days.

Law360 Cases also offers full-text searches on all patent complaints in federal courts, along with no-fee downloads of the complaints.

Law360 Alerts

Law360 Alerts provides daily and real-time news and case alerts on organizations, industries, and customized search queries.

Our 30,000+ organization-specific pages include significant legal events involving law firms, companies, industries, and government agencies.
You can sign up for a daily summary of news and cases from the previous day, or set up real-time case or news alerts that will let you know within minutes when an article is published on our site or a document filed in PACER related to an organization or industry.

In addition to organization alerts, you can track specific cases and case types, as well as custom news searches, using Advanced Search.

Law360 Briefcase

Want to save articles or case filings and send them to colleagues via email? The Law360 Briefcase makes it easier than ever to access and share your research.

PTAB Cases & Documents

Law360 Platform also gives you the ability to search and download filings with the U.S. Patent & Trademark Office’s Patent Trial & Appeal Board.

This tool lets you search PTAB cases and full-text documents, set up alerts on new cases, follow ongoing cases, and track new decisions and other types of filings.

Law360 has quickly become required reading for serious lawyers representing companies in high value deals, governmental regulatory issues and high stakes litigations. It provides the reader with new developments and results in almost a real-time basis. The vast majority of our partners, including me, consider it to be required reading each day.

A. William Urquhart, Quinn Emanuel Urquhart & Sullivan

Each morning, I have to decide whether to first have my Starbucks or read Law360 — usually Law360 wins out. It’s an essential part of my daily routine.

Sara A. Begley, Partner, Reed Smith

I read Law360 on my iPhone every morning before I even get out of bed. Law360 is hands down the legal industry’s leading legal news source.

Don McKenna, Partner, Hare Wynn Newell & Newton

I jumpstart my day by reading Law360 every morning. Short, concise blurbs keep me informed about latest developments while allowing me to read full articles later in greater detail. Law360 provides me my news how and when I want to get it.

Keith N. Costa, Partner, Riker Danzig
I read Law360 on my mobile before I even arrive in the office, and most of our lawyers here do, too. Our industry is complicated, and it’s fast-moving. Law360 is timely, concise, accurate, and focused on the right priorities, enabling me to quickly access the legal developments I need.

Michael D. Fricklas, General Counsel, Viacom

I look forward to reviewing Law360 every morning as the most comprehensive, concise and insightful source of news on current legal developments and on the legal profession.

Paul Roeder, Deputy General Counsel for Litigation, Hewlett-Packard

Law360 is invaluable for its early-day briefings on breaking developments in a variety of practice areas. It keeps me up to date every day on the developments I need to know about. Knowing what is going on early is essential for me and my team to provide proactive legal advice and anticipate possible problems. It has become a key element of our efforts.

Robert E. Bostrom, General Counsel, Abercrombie & Fitch

Law360 is the legal equivalent of a stock ticker. It is the first email I open every morning, and I check it for updates at least two or three times throughout the day. If I could only have one resource to maintain my professional acuity, Law360 would be it.

Kevin Covert, Deputy General Counsel for Human Resources, Honeywell
