To whom it may concern,

I am experiencing symptoms which may or may not be consistent with CoronaVirus. I have a collapsed lung (from a childhood accident) and as a result I occasionally have shortness of breath. I have a congenital heart condition (a heart murmur) which is my medical records. As a result my chest starts hurting and I cannot breathe well and am out of breath.

I am also anemic. These conditions are nothing new.

However, recently these symptoms have been coupled with a dry cough and have chills.

Please advise. I am concerned I interacted with [REDACTED] who was on the bus with the infected inmate.

Thanks

Hello To Whom it may concern,

I [REDACTED], [REDACTED] here at MDC am sending this email out to notify the nurses of some rational symptoms i've been having. Which are very unlikely of me. I have been overly tired, down, exhausted. I have been having chills but no signs of fevers, mild headaches and from time to time nausea. I have lack of organs from shot wounds in the past. I lack a Spleen which is very important within the immune system. Please allow someone to see me immediately, I am high risk for the Corona Virus. Not saying I have it, but would love immediate care if I do end positive.

Attn: To whom it may concern

Good morning. My name is [REDACTED] and this will be another request I am sending in regards to an ear infection that I have been experiencing for almost three weeks with no response from either Sick Call or Medical overall. Some recent examples of this infection in my right ear aside from loss of hearing and a consistency of brown-like discharge when cleaning my ear is an occasional soreness on the right side of my mouth, there is also trouble breathing sporadically on the right side of my body with slight pains here and there. In my assessment this is a result of the infection attempting to spread around, and with factual evidence suggesting that even a tooth infection can result in near-death experiences I was hoping to avoid something a lot more serious by simply sending messages in concerns to my health within a two-week range. I would truly appreciate if someone within this department can please help out before this situation results in worse symptoms. Thank you very much for your time and patience.

Regards,

[REDACTED]

Dear Sir/Madam,

I am writing to advise you that I am known to have a chronic medical illness- bronchial asthma, which I have been diagnosed to have since Age 6yrs. Further, I am known to have chronic hypertension. Currently, I am experiencing an acute flare in my bronchial asthma with symptoms such as: tightness in my chest, wheezing, difficulty in breathing and these symptoms have been made worse because of the cold air which blows in my room from the vent.

Please assist me urgently by evaluating my current medical state of well- being. I am very concerned that I would be a high risk candidate should I contract the Corona virus.

Respectfully,

I am worried about some symptoms I am having. I have occasional chest pains and feel lightheaded and dizzy. I don't know what it causing it. My nose is also running and I get a little winded and out of breath. I don't think I have a fever, but I do feel hot and cold. I am concerned because of my pre-existing diabetes, so wanted to notify you and see what I should do.

i have been trying to bring to someones attention but no one is paying attention to my complaints. my allergies have been getting worse and i have been asking for a refill of mometasone nasal spray. i am now having some difficulty breathing but i have been patient now i am extremely uncomfortable. practicing such as this goes way above and beyond the definition of neglect. i need to see someone as soon as possible instead of having someone walk away from my door when i try to speak to them.

Could I please be seen? I have been smothering at times. Can't get proper oxygen for some reason. Don't have any sickness or symptoms, but had lung surgery before coming to prison, and lung capacity is diminished. I had a full panic attack and half passed out yesterday mornin'! Also, need to see doc about my Oxcarbazepine. No refills left and coming due. I have been on it for a few years now and it is essential. Thanks for your time and consideration.

I put one sick call in to no avail. I am having trouble breathing and getting good oxygen. I wake up having breathing issues and go to bed with the same. I had lung surgery in 2006, and my capacity so compromised as it is. I was referred to psych, and not taken seriously by the doc. I am NOT a whiner and there is an issue here. Could it please be addressed or at the least well documented that I tried? Thanks for your time and consideration.

On the 8th i was experiencing dizzyness and a really bad headach and then began to smell gas and ended up falling asleep. Later that evening i could still smell gas coming through the vent. I mad this known to staff in that evening who laughed it off and replied they're burning tubber outside. i then felt like my herart was racing and hit the emergency call button which has since been turned off from the 8th. several people have since tried to get the attention for issues and could nit reach staff this is a concern cause had it been a life or death issue help would've never came. I dont take my health lightyl or jokingly and would hope satff here would take it serious as well. Seeing [REDACTED] in th unit several times i've called to him and have been ignored i dont know what else to do.

I originally sent this nearly 2 months ago, as you can see, simply to Sick Call. My filters are shot and my CPAP is not working as well as it should due to that fact. Please look into this matter as soon as you are able. Thank you.

[REDACTED] on 3/15/2020 9:12 PM wrote:

I am in need of new CPAP filters for my breathing machine. If you do not already keep them in stock, even though they are the current standard-issue CPAP devices, the parts in need may be located via the Phillips website at www.phillips.com -- although the pharmacy you already deal with may keep them in stock as well. My device is the Philips "DreamStation Auto CPAP DOM" and I am in need of both the larger (roughly 0.5" x 1" x 0.25") filter and the "fine particle filter" (the flat piece that snaps onto the larger filter), and the two tend to be available in a package deal. Just to give you a heads-up, I know of at least one other individual who also has the same CPAP and is also in need of filters, so feel free to order a couple of them to have on-hand (they are supposed to be replaced every 90 days -- at least the flat, fine-filters; the larger ones may be cleaned for up to a year, but mine is broken, which is why I'm requesting both as a set). I am willing to pay a small fee if necessary, but I must have these filters before too long, and have no way to order them on my own. Thank you for your time and assistance.

I need to see a DR about my shortness of breath to get an inhaler, when I was home I would do a nebulizer treatment when I was having issues, but that wasnt discussed in detail when I first arrived since I was suddenly and without consultation removed from my meds that were prescribed and I was not really focused on anything except the withdrawal therefor I was not in the right state of mind to go over all my issues while consulted.

For the second time, I am emailing to say that I have tried the allergy medication on commissary and nothing has changed. I still have shortness of breath, tightness in my chest, and intense nasal congestion. I believe that these may be symptoms of COVID-19 and not of my allergies. I request to be tested immediately.
